FLETCHER FOUND GUILTY AND GIVEN FIVE-YEAR TERM

Charged With Having

CONVICTION IS NINTH OBTAINED BY BOYKIN

O. Wynne and W. T. Griffin,
Chief of Detectives, of Memphis Testify for the Prosecution.

William Fletcher, alias "Canadian Willie," alias "The Count," was found guilty by a jury Wednesday afternoon of swindling O. Wynne, of Memphis, Tenn., and Inverness, Miss., out of $27,500 in a fake exchange in Atlanta in 1917, and was sentenced to five years on the chain-gang. Judge John D. Humphries, before whom the case was tried, made the verdict the sentence of the court, five years being the limit allowed under the law.

Fletcher made a statement to the jury in which he attempted to set up an alibi as his defense to the charge. He claimed that he was in Cincinnati at the time Wynne lost his money in Atlanta.

Cincinnati Man on Stand.
Attorneys Walter LeCraw and Fred E. Harrison, counsel for Fletcher, introduced as a witness E. E. McGuire, deputy chief of the municipal court in Cincinnati, to substantiate the alibi. McGuire partially identified Fletcher as a man who was arrested in Cincinnati on January 29, 1917, under the name of William Alexander, and who, on January 30, was fined $50 and costs on a charge of gambling. Fletcher told the jury he had posed under the name of William Alexander.

Wynne and W. T. Griffin, chief of detectives of Memphis, were called by the state to the stand. Wynne positively identified the defendant when the latter was taken into custody by Chief Griffin in Memphis when a number of alleged confidence men were caught in a raid.

Wynne claimed that he lost his money in the Walton building after he had been "steered" from Orlando, Fla. He testified that Fletcher acted as telegraph operator in Orlando and later in Atlanta.

Fletcher is the ninth man to be prosecuted by Solicitor-General John A. Boykin and sentenced in Atlanta for participation in confidence and gaming schemes, which netted to the promoters more than a million dollars in two years.

McDougal Released.
Judge John D. Humphries Thursday released Neal McDougal, alleged confidence man, who was arrested in Chicago four months ago and brought back to Atlanta and lodged in the Tower on suspicion of having been implicated in the fleecing of W. R. Manning, of Dallas, Texas, out of $5,000. Attorney John W. Smith, counsel for McDougal, brought habeas corpus proceedings to obtain the release of his client. Solicitor-General Boykin's office did not oppose the writ. Attorney Smith signed by W. S. Manning under date of April 16, in which the young Texas rancher said he had talked with McDougal in the Tower for several hours and had become convinced that McDougal was not implicated with the gang that fleeced him in Atlanta two years ago.

GERMANY OFFERS TO RECONSTRUCT

Berlin, April 21.—Germany has sent a note to the allied reparations commission offering to start immediately with the reconstruction of the devastated regions of France. It is stated that the note is sent as an evidence of good faith on Germany's part in her protestations that she is willing to do all in her power to repair the damage of the war.

The appeal to President Harding was made by the German government, which is now in the hands of the "sanctions." It was based on the very slenderest of hopes. It is learned here, the first intimation that such a note might possibly be entertained by President Harding being communicated to the German government by an American senator through a mediator.

"There is a chance of consideration," Germany was told.

Washington, April 21.—The American government refused today an urgent request of the German government that President Harding make a statement regarding reparations. The German government was "ready and willing" to accept any award, but the United States agreed, however, that if the German government would formulate promptly such proposals regarding reparations as would present a proper basis for discussion, it would "consider bringing the matter to the attention of the allied governments in a manner acceptable to them in order that negotiations may speedily be resumed."

Germany's appeal, signed by Chancellor Fehrenbach and Foreign Minister Simons, was directed to President Harding and was transmitted through American Commissioner Dreesel at Berlin. It was answered by Secretary Hughes after a conference late today with the president at the white house.

The texts of both the appeal and reply were made public tonight by the state department. The communication from Berlin said the German government was "ready and willing" to agree without qualification or reservation "to pay such sum as the president after examination and investigation might 'find just and right,' and to fulfill in letter and spirit all the provisions of any award that may be made by him."

Hughes' Reply.

In reply, Secretary Hughes said: "This government could not agree to mediate the question of reparations with a view to acting as umpire in its settlement. Impressed, however, with the seriousness of the issues involved as they affect the whole world, the government of the United States feels itself to be deeply concerned with the question of obtaining an early and just solution. This government strongly desires that there should be an immediate resumption of negotiations and reiterates its earnest hope that the German government will promptly formulate such proposals as would present a proper basis for discussion. Should the German government take this course, this government will consider bringing the matter to the attention of the allied governments in a manner acceptable to them in order that negotiations may speedily be resumed."

Remarkable Appeal.

Germany's appeal was regarded in official and diplomatic Washington as a remarkable one. It was notable out that it was directed to the head of a nation with which Germany still is technically at war, and which has troops on its soil. Reference to the state of war was made in the German communication, the chancellor and foreign minister declaring that, notwithstanding this, they were ready to make peace.

YAP CONTROVERSY SETTLEMENT NEAR AS POWERS AGREE

Japan and France Accept America's Stand on
Cables To Clear Status
Of Island

EXPECT AGREEMENT ON ALL QUESTIONS

U. S. To Get Guam-Yap
Cable and Japan To Be Awarded Yap-Shanghai
Line

Washington, April 21.—(By the Associated Press.)—Japan and France are understood to have accepted the American principles of distribution of the former German Atlantic and Pacific cables, at a session of the international com- munications conference held late today at the state department.

While details of the operation of the cables to be allocated have yet to be worked out, the acceptance by Japan and France of the American view is expected to make possible an early agreement on all such questions.

Defers Settlement.

Actual working out of the distribution of the Pacific cables by which it is understood the United States will receive the line from Guam to Yap, and Japan that part of the line from Yap extending formerly to Shanghai, it was indicated tonight, will be deferred pending the clearing up of the status of the island of Yap.

In addition to the cable from Guam to Yap and that from New York to Brest, now in possession of France, the United States is also expected to receive from Great Britain the cable now extending from Halifax to Penzance, and which, previous to the war, was laid from New York to Bremen, Germany. In exchange, Great Britain will receive one of the American cables connecting the United States with Canada.

Direct Cable.

Details of American participation with Italy in construction of a direct cable from Naples to New York via the Azores have also to be worked out by the conference in order that the rights of Italy to share in the former German cables may be sustained to her satisfaction. Other arrangements are understood to provide for the allocation to France of the former German cables along the African coast. Norman Davis, former under-secretary of state, who since the convening of the conference, has acted as chairman, presented his resignation today and it was accepted. Under-Secretary of State Fletcher was elected as chairman in his place. Resignation of Mr. Davis as a commissioner has yet to be accepted by President Harding.

FITZGERALD MAN COMITS SUICIDE BY POISON ROUTE

Fitzgerald, Ga., April 21.—(Special.)—Financial worries are ascribed as a cause of the suicide of his home here Wednesday of D. O. Benson, aged 32. Benson drank some carbolic acid mixed in a bottle with a popular soft drink while in his chicken yard early in the morning. It is stated he later went into the house, and became violently sick.

A Physician was summoned.

Before the doctor could arrive, however, it is stated by members of the family, Benson returned to the chicken yard, where he had left the bottle of poisoned soft drink and swallowed some of the mixture. He died shortly after. A coroner's jury returned a verdict that Benson had committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid. The body was taken Wednesday for interment to his former home, in Flowery Branch.

He is survived by a wife, Mrs. Genie Holland Benson, daughter of A. O. Holland, of Gainesville; two children; a sister, Mrs. Tom Hudson, of Flowery Branch; five brothers, Dr. Spear Benson, of McRae; Tom Benson, of Worthen; Frank, Claude and Burrell Benson, of Flowery Branch.

Wants Foot Race To Decide Contest For Governorship

69-Year-Old Candidate
Would Let Winner
Take Nomination

Lynchburg, Va., April 21.—Harry St. George Tucker, of Lexington, Va., in a statement here today announced that he is willing to meet State Senator E. Lee Trinkle, of Wytheville, in a foot race for the governorship, in a foot race of two hundred yards and let the winner of the race take the nomination.

He first made the challenge in speeches in Mecklenburg county last night, in reply to charges by his opponent that he is too old for governor. Although 69 years of age, Mr. Tucker says he is perfectly fit and is willing to pit his age and sprightliness against Senator Trinkle's youth and avowedness.

LOVE SONG, JAZZED IN SNOW ROMANCE BY DIVORCE SUIT

Love's old sweet song has been jazzed so much of late in this city that it is pretty well out of tune in a number of instances, but the most harrowing discord in the grand old melody floated into Atlanta Thursday night from Birmingham, where Richard W. Snow and his bride, formerly Miss Frances May, have been trying to sing a duet, matrimonially speaking.

The May-Snow storm which their elopement and honeymoon in this city caused in Birmingham made the bride's father feel distinctly cold toward his new son-in-law, especially in view of the fact that his daughter had been engaged to Felix Best, a wealthy foundry owner of Elizabeth, N. J. After the honeymoon at the Wincoff hotel, the happy pair returned to Birmingham, expecting the usual parental kiss. Instead, the irate father took his daughter and vanished. Snow promptly countered with a suit for $100,000 damages against his father-in-law, charging him with alienating his wife's affections.

Mrs. Snow on Thursday took matters into her own hands and sued her husband for a divorce, on the grounds that he is an adventurer, already had a wife and several children in Washington when he married her.

WOULD INCREASE STRENGTH OF ARMY TO 166,000 TROOPS

Washington, April 21.—Provision for a regular army of 166,000, as against the 156,000 agreed upon by the last congress, is contained in the draft of the army appropriation bill, completed today by the house sub-committee. The measure carries approximately $320,000,000—nearly $15,000,000 less than the total in the bill passed last year and vetoed by President Wilson.

Anti-Injunction Law Will Be Asked by Federation When Legislature Meets In June

VOCATIONAL TRAINING PLANS ARE OUTLINED

Description of the lot of the textile workers in Columbus, who are on strike, and of the A. B. & A. situation, by representatives of these former employees, proved the feature of the afternoon session of the annual convention of the Georgia Federation of Labor.

At the morning session the chief feature was the passage of a resolution calling for the passage of an anti-injunction bill through the Georgia legislature.

The anti-injunction bill was brought up at the Labor temple at the morning session for discussion and action by Jerome Jones, representing the Atlanta Federation of Trades. After considerable argument, the bill was referred to the legislative committee, which favored the adoption of the measure as it stood, and, after addresses by H. O. Test, business agent for the street car unions of Atlanta, Jerome Jones, editor of The Journal of Labor, and others, the bill was passed by a unanimous vote.

John J. Manning, of Washington, secretary and treasurer of the labor industrial department of the American Federation of Labor, who addressed the convention on "The Necessity of Solidarity Among Union Members," also strongly advocated the passage of the anti-injunction bill. This bill, Mr. Jones said, "would do away with the power of the judges of the courts of Georgia in the issue of a writ of injunction in any dispute involving terms and conditions of employment," but it was not designed to abolish the writ of injunction, but to abolish the right of anybody to get out an injunction against unions, except when serious damage to property was to be committed.

Union-Made Clothes.
Mr. Manning urged all union men the necessity of purchasing and wearing union-made clothes, stating that if 50 per cent of the unions' wages were spent each year in the purchase of garments union-made, it would be the greatest help to the organized labor movement that could possibly be secured. Denouncing the open shop propaganda, he said that "organized labor must use its strength to build greater strength, and by patronizing firms that handle only union-made articles, it will give a great momentum to the labor movement."

An outline of the work being accomplished by the Atlanta branch of the industrial department of the American Federation of Labor, available for training and rehabilitation of disabled service men was given by M. Bryson, Senator J. E. T. Brown, of Waycross, Ga., gave a short talk on the legislative program of the federation.

The afternoon session opened at 2 o'clock, and Edward S. Callahan, representing the textile workers of the state, and organizer of this movement in Georgia, gave a detailed account of the strike situation in Columbus, Ga., where he declared, more than a thousand men and women were out on strike, some destitute, others homeless and at the point of starvation. The facts of the case were placed before the convention, asking for the sanction of the labor movement to the fact that the strike must still be decided.

It is pointed out that obviously a man must be chosen for chief-of-staff who will co-operate with Pershing in his new office. From that standpoint, the name of Major General Harbord is most prominently mentioned. Harbord acted as Pershing's chief-of-staff for a time during the war, and Pershing is understood to favor him to succeed March.

In view, however, of the prominence which has been given Edwards' name in connection with the office, it is suggested that virtually two chiefs-of-staff may be named. One of them would act with Pershing, the other with Harbord, and the other would fulfill the regular, peace-time duties of chief-of-staff.

This would permit Harbord's appointment on Pershing's war staff, and the naming of Edwards as Major General W. G. Haan or Major General Summerall to succeed him.

Baby Abandoned On Steps of Home Of Capt. English

Little Girl Left by Woman, For Whom Police are Searching

An abandoned baby girl, left on the steps of Captain J. W. English's home at 40 Cone street about 8 o'clock Thursday night, created a mystery which the detective force is attempting to unravel. A few marks on the clothing of the child were the only clues to be found.

Captain English and his household were seated at dinner when the plaintive cry of the child attracted their notice. They immediately investigated, and two of Captain English's grandchildren found a two-weeks old baby lying on the steps outside the front door. The child wore a cap, in which the name Mammie was printed in ink, and the infant's gown bore the initials M. O. Detectives Cody and Mosley took the child to Grady hospital.

Neighbors said they had seen a woman, dressed in a long coat, walk up the steps of the English home, stoop over and take something from under her coat, which she deposited on the stoop. She then walked rapidly away, they said, and the mother cannot be found. The child will be turned over to the care of some charitable home.

Captain English is chairman of the board of directors of the Fourth National bank, and is one of the leading financial authorities in the south. He is a pioneer resident of this city.

PERSHING HEADS EMERGENCY STAFF

Secretary Weeks to Set Up Skeletonized General Headquarters — System Similar to One in France.

BY RALPH H. TURNER,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Washington, April 21.—The American government, in creating a new job for General Pershing, has adopted the military system which provides for a permanent "general staff," to be ready in peace time to act on a moment's notice in case of war.

Secretary Weeks' announcement that he would inaugurate a skeletonized general headquarters, with Pershing at the head, also means a new alignment in the ranks of the candidates for chief-of-staff. The changes for Major General James G. Harbord to succeed Major General Peyton C. March appear to have increased, with a corresponding slump in the stock of Brigadier General Clarence Edwards.

The purpose of the new war staff, to be headed by Pershing, is to facilitate instant preparation for active military operations. Secretary Weeks explained, Pershing will direct this skeletonized "G. H. Q." in war details calculated to convert the army into an active war machine, whenever emergency demands.

Pershing's new position is particularly appropriate in Secretary Weeks' view, because of his present role as "general of the armies of the United States." Weeks explained that before the war the French government had designated Marshal Joffre to command a headquarters organization, available for instant action in case of war, and that it so functioned when war was declared. Pershing's task will be a similar one.

Phase Yet to Be Decided.
Further details of the proposed scheme are yet to be formed. The chief-of-staff, it is announced, will continue to direct the army in time of peace. In reconciling Pershing's new duties with the functions of the chief-of-staff, lies one phase of the problem that must still be decided.

It is pointed out that obviously a man must be chosen for chief-of-staff who will co-operate with Pershing in his new office. From that standpoint, the name of Major General Harbord is most prominently mentioned. Harbord acted as Pershing's chief-of-staff for a time during the war, and Pershing is understood to favor him to succeed March.

In view, however, of the prominence which has been given Edwards' name in connection with the office, it is suggested that virtually two chiefs-of-staff may be named. This would permit Harbord's appointment on Pershing's war staff, and the naming of Edwards as Major General W. G. Haan or Major General Summerall to succeed him.

With the half-million mark just a few dollars away, interest in the Atlanta campaign to secure $1,500,000 to swell the $3,000,000 expansion fund of Georgia Tech was Thursday at its highest point, and workers are enthusiastic over the success thus far obtained.

The daily luncheons of the team workers at the chamber of commerce continue to be spirited affairs, 200 Atlantans giving their time and thought to the raising of the funds to make out of Georgia Tech an institution worthy of the state and valuable for the state's industrial future.

Subscriptions large and subscriptions small continue to be reported—both by the twenty teams under Robert S. Gregg and Albert S. Adams, co-chairmen, and those under Thomas H. Dagiel and the forty prominent Atlantans, representative of the larger industrial and commercial concerns. In this issue of The Constitution are published the names of those subscriptions officially tabulated to date, and others will appear from time to time.

Tech Faculty Subscribes.
The faculty of Georgia Tech, 109 professors and instructors, have subscribed 100 per cent to the campaign and will announce the total of their subscriptions within a day or two. William A. Alexander, better known as "Alec," the popular coach of the school athletic teams, has subscribed $500 to the fund, it was announced Thursday.

With the half-million mark just a few dollars away, interest in the Atlanta campaign to secure $1,500,000 to swell the $3,000,000 expansion fund of Georgia Tech was Thursday at its highest point, and workers are enthusiastic over the success thus far obtained.

Alexander, better known as "Alec," the popular coach of the school athletic teams, has subscribed $500 to the fund, it was announced Thursday.

Intense rivalry has sprung up between the teams under the leadership of Mr. Gregg, and the luncheons have become more spirited on account of this friendly competition. The race for first honors at present is hotly run between the team led by William Oldknow and that captained by W. T. Rich. Mr. Oldknow's team led the field for the first few days, but Thursday that of Rich forged ahead to a $500 lead. These two leading teams are hard pressed by the others in the race, and the workers are eagerly expecting the race to become even tighter than it now is.

The total subscriptions announced by the teams Thursday was higher than that of any day yet, above $60,000, bringing the total raised by the teams to approximately $200,000. Mr. Gregg urges that the same splendid attendance be accorded the noon-day luncheons, since in the plans and conferences there lies the success of the campaign.

Harlan Writes Letter.
Judy Harlan, the great fallback of the Golden Tornado, and the captain of next year's gridiron squad from the north-side institution, has written a letter to alumni of the school all over the world, part of which follows:

"You pulled for us on the gridiron when the Golden Tornado was giving its all—I know you are going to stick by us during the Greater Georgia Tech drive, which means that Tech either is going forward in the race or will drop out altogether."

The letter concludes with: "Down in the dressing room for the football team is a sign that reads: 'My All for Tech.' That is the spirit that makes the team fight to the death. It is in this spirit that I ask you to back the college you love in this great battle."

Mr. Daniel, chairman of the initial subscriptions committee, announced Thursday that his committee, forty of them, expected to complete their work by Friday. This phase of the campaign announced Thursday, among other subscriptions, attainment of a total of $15,000 from the banks of Atlanta—Atlanta National, $2,500; Fourth National, $3,500; Citizens and Southern, $3,500; Lowry National, $3,000; Fulton National, $1,000 and Atlanta Trust company, $500.

DETECTIVE PAYNE GOT $200 WEEKLY, ASSERT NEGROES

Nat McWhorter Reluctantly Admits That Wife Gave Money to "Lucile" for Officers.

BANK ACCOUNTS SHOW INCREASE OF $1,700

Evidence Is Barred, However, Until Identified by Officials — Bootlegging Evil Is Bared.

Direct charges that Detective Payne had been paid $200 each week by Nat McWhorter, a negro who operated a notorious "blind tiger" under the Courtland street viaduct, right in the neighborhood of police headquarters, were made by two witnesses and tacitly and reluctantly admitted by McWhorter himself at Thursday night's session of the council committee's investigation of the police and detective departments.

Detective Payne, himself, was present as the witnesses accused him. He stood in a doorway of the city council chamber and directly faced the witness chair. Throughout their testimony he glared at the witnesses. Two of them avoided his gaze, but the other, a black named Trimble, not only looked the detective squarely in the eye, but arising from his seat, pointed him out to the committee.

Officers Bank Account.
Following this, Eugene R. Black, attorney for the citizens' committee, attempted to introduce a savings bank account of Payne's, showing that his account at the Atlanta National had increased from $1,300 to more than $3,000 from last June until January, and that he had similar papers from the Fourth National.

Chairman Sims, however, ruled that these accounts must be identified by bank officials before they could be introduced as evidence. Mr. Black promised to introduce such witnesses at the hearing Friday.

Nat McWhorter, in person, made an interesting witness. He declared that he drove a hack for a living, but at the same time admitted owning a Hudson and a Stutz car, which he used for personal pleasure. It was also proved that although he was frequently arrested he had no trouble in making $10,000 bonds.

When questioned as to paying detectives, he proved a most reluctant witness. As each question was propounded he would pause for a full minute and finally shake his head in negation. He was finally forced to admit that his wife had told him that she had given $200 weekly to an employee to turn over to detectives.

Another feature of the evening's testimony related to the presence of policemen at "the chicken house."

house" on Mitchell street, declared to be a notorious blind tiger. In this connection, Chief Beavers, in his testimony, was endeavoring to prove Biblical precedent for such action. Chairman Sims declared that the committee would take judicial knowledge of the fact.

While discussing Mitchell street conditions in general, Special Agent Quinn, of the American Express company, declared that since national prohibition went into effect that so many bootleggers infested Mitchell street that it is an unsafe thoroughfare for an unescorted officer who had attempted to arrest whisky violators regardless of who they were, had been suddenly and mysteriously transferred to other fields of operation.

At the close of the meeting it was decided to hold sessions throughout the week, the plan being to hold afternoon sessions when there are night performances and night sessions when there are matinees.

W. E. Jarman, who had testified Wednesday night that he had seen Floyd Woodward hand something—presumably two $5 bills—to a man in a light-colored suit, was the first witness, and he identified Officer A. D. Hornsby as the man who had received whatever it was that Woodward had taken down stairs from his gambling house to the officer on the beat.

Jarman Is Recalled.

W. E. Jarman, who was on the stand Wednesday, was recalled as the first witness. The defense endeavored to pin him down on the fact that he had seen Woodward hand the $5 bills to a man in a light-colored suit, who was identified as Officer A. D. Hornsby, as the man who had received whatever it was that Woodward had taken down stairs from his gambling house to the officer on the beat.

However, the witness would not give positive about the date, but insisted that he had overheard the conversation, though Mr. Jones tried to make him say that it was purely a fragment of his imagination. He was called to the stand, and was identified by Jarman as the officer who had seen Woodward slip two $5 bills.

Upon questioning by Chairman Sims, Lucile Evans, colored, the next witness to take the stand, said that she worked for Nat McWhorter, on Courtland street under the viaduct, and that liquor was freely sold at that establishment.

She said it was the custom for McWhorter to give the officers $200 each Monday. Payne and West were the detectives named by the negroes as receiving the money weekly.

Mr. Sims: "Did Nat always give Payne and West the money himself?"

Witness: "No, sir, sometimes he'd leave the money with me when he'd want to go off somewhere, and I'd give it to 'em."

Mr. Sims: "Who did you give the money to?"

Witness: "To Payne."

Mr. Sims: "How was the money fixed up, Joe?"

Witness: "No, sir, it was sealed up in an envelope."

The negro said she had paid the money over to the detectives three or four times herself. She said she had been arrested three times—one time at Nat McWhorter's place by Payne and West for violation of the prohibition laws.

Mr. Jones: "Who brought you up here?"

Witness: "I don't know."

Given Ten Months.

The woman said that when she was arrested at 33 Courtland, she was convicted in Judge Cahoon's court and sentenced to ten months or $100.

She said McWhorter had paid the fine.

Mr. Jones: "Did you talk to anybody about all this before today?"

Witness: "Yes, I talked about it to Mr. Boykin yesterday."

Mr. Jones: "Did you talk to him alone?"

Witness: "No, sir, I talked to him and a whole lot of men on the grand jury."

Mr. Jones: "Did he say he would let you off if you'd do this?"

Witness: "No, sir, I always paid it to Payne."

Mr. Jones: "Did anybody else tell you that?"

Witness: "No, sir."

Judge Hines: "Did you ever pay Detective West any money?"

Witness: "Yes, sir, I always paid it to Payne."

Judge Hines: "You said, didn't you, that before or after you gave them the money?"

Witness: "Before."

Mr. Black: "You talked to Mr. Boykin before the grand jury, didn't you?"

Witness: "Yes."

Mr. Black: "You didn't talk to him in his private office before you went before the grand jury, did you?"

Operated Soft Drink Place.

Witness: "No, sir, another negro prisoner testified that he formerly operated a soft drink place near Nat McWhorter's. He said he had seen several officers in McWhorter's place, including West and Payne."

Mr. Black: "Did you ever see McWhorter pay any officers any money?"

Witness: "Yes, sir, I see him pay Mr. Payne lots of times."

Witness: "Yes, sir, Mr. Payne. There he is now."

The negro arose from his chair and pointed directly at Detective Payne, who was standing in a doorway.

Mr. Black: "How much did he pay Payne?"

Witness: "Nat said he paid him $500 every week."

Mr. Black: "How was the money paid?"

Witness: "Nat would carry the money out in a package to the corner of Decatur and Courtland and pay it over to Mr. Payne and I'd see him count out the money."

Councilman Goodhart: "What were you doing when you were last arrested and what were you arrested for?"

Witness: "I was running a soft drink stand next to McWhorter's. They arrested me for vagrancy."

Witness: "Right smart, my place and told me the chief wanted to see me. I went around to see the chief and he said look me up."

Judge Hines: "How many cases are there against you now?"

Witness: "Ain't got nary a one now. I've been convicted, got eight months in the chain-gang."

Judge Hines: "Why aren't you on the chain-gang now?"

Witness: "My case is been appealed."

Judge Hines: "How many times have you been on the chain-gang?"

Witness: "Right smart, for burglary, assault and battery, robbery and whisky."

Jacobs Robs Up Again.

Judge Hines: "Did Jack Jacobs come to you and tell you he'd been arrested?"

Witness: "Yes, sir, he told me he'd been arrested by Mr. Boykin and told him this story."

Witness: "Didn't he tell you that you had three cases against you and you were likely to land in the chain-gang?"

Witness: "No, sir, I already knew that I was likely to wind up there."

Judge Hines: "Didn't Jacobs give you a note and tell you to take it to the ninth floor of the Fourth National Bank building?"

Witness: "No, sir."

Judge Hines: "Then produced an affidavit, purporting to have been made by the negro, declaring that Jacobs had heaved to him the story but that he had refused because he was on the chain-gang at the time."

Judge Hines: "Look at this paper and see if this isn't your signature."

Witness: "I can't write."

Judge Hines: "See if that isn't your name."

Witness: "Neither can I read."

Chairman Sims: "Can't you write your name?"

Witness: "Neither my name nor nobody else's."

Chairman Sims: "Did any detectives see you about this?"

Witness: "Yes, sir, Detective

Jones stopped me on the steps in front of the police station and asked me if I'd been before Mr. Boykin."

Judge Hines: "Was Detective Arthur or Mr. Cooper or Mr. Cochran present when you signed this paper?"

Witness: "They might have been present when the paper was signed, but I wasn't there."

Judge Hines: "When did you tell Jacobs this story on Payne?"

Witness: "I ain't told Mr. Jacobs nothing. I'm telling you what I know."

Mr. Jones: "Who arrested you the last time?"

Witness: "Steagall and a lot of 'em."

Mr. Jones: "Detectives?"

Witness: "Polices by day and detectives by night."

Judge Hines: "How many times have you been arrested?"

Witness: "If it was $500 like Nat said it was, I saw him give it to him a lot of times."

Appeared Before Grand Jury.

Mr. Black: "What happened to you in a package that appeared before the grand jury?"

Witness: "The very next night, and I was sent to the police station and bound over on charge of vagrancy."

Witness: "Who arrested you besides Steagall the last time?"

Witness: "Jones and Cason and Whitley."

Mr. Black: "Were they making a general clean-up of the place?"

Witness: "I don't know, but I was sent to the police station."

Chief Beavers: "When did I arrest you?"

Witness: "You ain't arrested me. You didn't know nothing against me. I was sent to the police station."

Mr. Black then offered in evidence the account of W. L. Payne, a witness, that on January 3, 1921, Atlanta National bank, showing that in June, 1920, he had a balance of $1,000 and that January 3, 1921, the balance was $3,000. Objections were registered by the defense, and the account was not admitted.

Witness: "Right smart, for burglary, assault and battery, robbery and whisky."

Witness: "Right smart, for burglary, assault and battery, robbery and whisky."

Were Police Present.

Chairman Sims: "Were any policemen present when you bought whisky?"

Witness: "Sometimes."

Chief Beavers: "Did they see you buying the whisky?"

Witness: "I don't expect so."

Chief Beavers: "Were the policemen on or off duty when you saw them?"

Witness: "I don't know."

Witness: "I don't know about that."

Witness: "I hardly know about that."

Alderman Goodhart: "Was this place notorious?"

Witness: "Well, it did a good deal of business."

Mr. Jones: "Where was the whisky sold?"

Witness: "In the rear of the building."

Mr. Jones: "Where were the policemen?"

Witness: "In the front of the building."

Joe McWhorter, brother of Nat, was called and asked about the payment to detectives, but he protested that he knew nothing. "If there was money paid out to police, Nat paid it."

Nat himself, then took the stand. He started out by protesting that he had never heard of the viaduct racket nor had he worked there. He admitted that he was, Daisy, did turn out.

Mr. Black: "Did you ever pay any money to any officers?"

Witness: "I ain't got no money to testify about that, sir. My wife, she runs the place."

Mr. Black: "After you pleaded guilty in the criminal court, how long was it before you were arrested again?"

Witness: "About a year."

Mr. Black: "What do you do for a living?"

Witness: "I drive a hack."

Mr. Black: "Do you own any cars?"

Witness: "Two—a Hudson and a Stutz."

Mr. Black: "Do you use them as taxis?"

Witness: "No, sir, for my personal use."

Mr. Black: "When you were before Judge Humphries, did any policemen help you out?"

Witness: "Yes, sir. They spoke to the judge for me."

Mr. Black: "Are you under bond now?"

Witness: "Five thousand—no, ten thousand dollars. I believe."

Mr. Black: "Did you ever pay Payne any money?"

Witness: "I don't know."

Mr. Black: "Did you thought long and earnestly and then shook his head?"

Mr. Black: "Did you give your wife any money to pay him?"

Again there was a long pause and again he shook his head.

Gave $200 a Week.

Mr. Black: "Did your wife ever give Lucile money to give to Payne?"

Witness: "My wife said she would give Lucile $200 a week, but I wasn't there. I stayed away."

Mr. Black: "Did you ever help pay Lieutenant Waggoner's expenses to San Francisco?"

Witness: "No, sir."

Mr. Black: "Did you wife?"

Witness: "I don't know."

Miss Clara Trevelyan, formerly a milliner of 834 Whitehall street, told of her experiences with the police in endeavoring to have a car game raided in the building where her store was located. Her testimony was a repetition of that she gave before the council probe of December.

She was corroborated by Miss Hattie Barrett, private detective.

A. C. Hand, the next witness, told of being ready to get in a crap game when the officers arrived, and of having dropped a pocketbook containing $55—two twenties, a ten and a five—as he ran away.

The witness told of trying to cover his pocketbook a few days later, and of finally securing it through the efforts of Ellis Barrett.

The pocketbook had been in the possession of Officer McMickin for three days since the raid on the game. When he got the wallet back, the money was gone, said the witness, and the $55 was never recovered.

Witness questioned Mr. Hand in an effort to have him state that he was not sure Officer McMickin got the pocketbook while the money was in it.

Mr. Jones: "Which way did you run when you saw the officers coming? In the opposite direction?"

Witness: "Yes."

Mr. Jones: "Did you see him pick up the pocketbook?"

Witness: "No, sir."

See Him Pick It Up.

Mr. Jones: "Did anybody else see the officer pick up the wallet?"

Witness: "Yes, sir, a man by the name of H. W. Quinn, a special agent of the American Railway and Express company, who said the place at 128 West Mitchell street was reported to be a 'whisky joint.'"

Mr. Black: "Did you ever see any policemen over there?"

Witness: "Oh, yes."

Mr. Black: "What did the policemen pay for their meals?"

Witness: "Twenty-five cents, no matter what they had."

Mr. Black: "What did the general public pay?"

Witness: "They paid the prices on the wall."

Mr. Black: "Could you detect the odor of whisky in the place?"

Witness: "There was a perfume of that kind about the place."

Mr. Quinn named several detectives: Jones, Holley, Lowe, Waggoner and Shaw.

Mr. Black: "Did you ever see an officer drinking there?"

Witness: "Yes, on one occasion I looked through a little cubby-hole and saw an officer putting a wine glass to his lips—it might have been hydrant water he was drinking, however."

The witness described the Mitchell street section as being "mighty bad," and said that since the grand jury investigation he had been "shy" about going there.

Not Safe for Women.

"It's really not safe for a woman to walk down the street there unattended," said Mr. Quinn. "Conditions are so bad there are so many blind tigers there that you can walk along and hear a man say, 'I haven't got but two quarts left, one corn and one eye.'"

He told of one occasion when an officer named Morgan hauled a whole wagon load down to the station house. Later, he said, Morgan was taken off that beat.

Witness: "I told him then he would lose out, because I thought he had arrested a councilman. It turned out that it was a councilman's brother, but he was taken off the beat."

Judge Hines: "Why did you quit his position?"

Witness: "Since the administration changed and since I went before the grand jury, I didn't think I'd get the same welcome I used to get."

Why Did You Go?

Judge Hines: "If that was such a bad place, why did you go there?"

Witness: "Well, you know, a man on my salary can't afford to eat at the Piedmont. I used to go there because the fare was cheap and it was convenient to my work."

Chief Beavers and counsel for the defense quizzed the witness to bring out the statement that a perfectly respectable person could eat at 128 Mitchell without endangering his reputation.

Following Mr. Quinn was E. J. Weldon, another employee of the city, who was a member of the police force, and testified to the same effect with regard to policemen frequenting the Mitchell street place.

Tells of Buying Booze.

C. E. Hall, formerly an employee of the American Railway and Express company at the terminal station, told of buying whisky on several occasions at a place at 128 West Mitchell street.

Mr. Black: "Did you ever see any policemen in this place?"

Witness: "Yes, sir, almost every time I went in there, you see, from two to a dozen, mostly at eating time."

Mr. Black: "Could you name any of those you have seen?"

Witness: "Yes, sir, I've seen Mr. Jones, Mr. Quinn, Mr. Shaw, Mr. Black, 'What was the reputation of the place?"

Witness: "It was both an eating house and a blind tiger, mostly a blind tiger, I guess."

Mr. Black: "Was it any trouble to buy liquor there?"

Witness: "No, sir, not a bit."

RESUME THE TRIAL
OF JAIL STORMERS

Jonesboro, Ark., April 21.—Selection of a jury to try DeWitt Garrett, the first of thirty alleged "night riders" to be placed on trial in the criminal court here, was resumed today with three jurors accepted, and the defense holding the right to exercise only one more poremptory challenge, and the state eight. The defense challenged nineteen of the twenty-four men examined yesterday, and the state two. Extra guards were placed about the county jail last night as a precautionary measure, as a result of a rumor that an attempt might be made to liberate Garrett, and Sheriff Johnson was authorized to deputize a special force to maintain order during the trial.

A. B. & A. DECISION
TERMED VIOLATION

Chicago, April 21.—The railroad labor board today ruled that the receivers of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, in reducing wages of its employees in compliance with a decision by Federal Judge S. H. Sibley, had acted in violation of the spirit and letter of the transportation act.

The board declared that it was powerless to take action in the case at present and suggested that the employees, most of whom now are on strike, again hold conferences with the owners and, if an agreement is not reached, bring the case back to the labor board.

The duty to obey a decision of this board is not any less an obligation on the owners of a road, the decision said.

lantic case brought the first clash between the labor board and a federal court and was the first legal tangle which the board was called on to unravel.

The case first came before the board last January when the road posted notices of wage reductions. Officers of the road told the board the carrier was losing $100,000 monthly and had to cut wages in order to exist. The board ordered the reduction and the employees withdrew and told the employers to counter with their workers in accordance with the transportation act.

When the case again came up, it was brought out that the road did not contest the justice of the wages set by the board but pleaded only inability to pay. The board ruled that financial conditions of the road was not a matter for it to act upon, deciding that such matters should go before the interstate commerce commission.

Subsequently the road went into the hands of a receiver and Judge Sibley authorized the wage reduction. A strike then was called on the line.

Exigencies of Case.
The decision today said the board believed that a misunderstanding and the exigencies of the case had caused the federal court to authorize the reduction instead of sending the case back to the labor board.

The board, in its decision, took the position that the receiver was still subject to the board's jurisdiction and that his act in reducing wages, even by authority of the court, constituted violation of the transportation act.

The board requested the court, however, having taken jurisdiction, to direct the receiver to confer with the former employees upon the question of just and reasonable wages in case of an agreement, to refer the case to the labor board.

Action Regrettable.
"The action of the court," the decision said, "is regrettable, and has resulted in a strike, injurious alike to the railroad, its employees and the public. It is a situation which the labor board is powerless to act effectively so long as the court differs from the labor board in its interpretation of the transportation act."

The board also censured the employees for going on strike, saying that it was their duty to refer the dispute to the board but due to the complication arising, the board declared there was nothing to be gained by ordering reinstatement of the former employees and restoration of the former rates of pay.

Since the federal court has taken jurisdiction over the wages by ordering the reduction, the board's decision said that to prevent any conflict of jurisdiction, the board would take no further action until the court approves or denies the requests for further conferences between the employees and receiver.

JUDGE SIBLEY DECLINES TO COMMENT ON RULING.
Judge Samuel H. Sibley, of the United States district court, when informed of the ruling of the United States railroad labor board, or receivers cannot arbitrarily reduce wages, refused to comment on the situation.

In the absence of Colonel B. L. Bugg, receiver of the A. B. & A., Morris Brandon, attorney for the receiver, issued the following statement: "The labor board had a chance to fix the wages of the railway company before a receiver was appointed, but it held it had no jurisdiction. If the labor board had no jurisdiction to fix the wages of the employees of the railway company, it certainly has none to fix the wages of the receiver's employees, because the receiver and his employees have agreed on the wages."

"The labor board's opinion handed down today correctly states that it is powerless to take action." The men out on a strike have been held by the court not to be employees at all and the labor board has held it would not fix wages for men while on a strike.

"If the receiver had relied on the labor board and if Judge Sibley had not fixed the wages of the employees, the railroad would not be operating today. The order of Judge Sibley, in fixing wages, saved the railroad to the public in this territory."

"The order of the district court for the northern district of Georgia was finally passed on by both Judge Sibley and Judge Clayton. Judge Evans, of the southern district of Georgia, another able judge, has likewise fixed the wages of the employees of a receiver in his court. In the Georgia-Midland case, Judge Triebler, in Arkansas, likewise fixed the wages of employees of a receiver in his court. The opinions of all these able judges as to their duties will certainly have as much weight as the opinion of the labor board. Indeed, the right of a court to fix wages of a receiver's employees cannot be questioned. Judge Sibley, in his opinion, states the rule as follows:

"Not only are the purse strings of the receivership in the hands of the court, but the interpretation and application of the constitution is the function of the court as against all boards and commissions, and the court cannot abdicate that function."

MUNICIPAL MARKET
WILL BE DISCUSSED

Invitations have been extended members of the Atlanta Women's club, the Atlanta Retail Food Dealers' association and county truck farmers to attend a meeting of the municipal research committee of the city council Friday afternoon for the purpose of discussion on the proposed municipal market.

Chairman J. R. Nutting called the meeting. Officials of the proposed market movement stated Thursday that plans for the institution have been abandoned this year following the injunction proceedings to restrain the county from making an appropriation toward the building fund.

Objections to the injunction, which was filed by reputed truck growers, county and city officials had agreed to appropriate $50,000 at once to purchase the land.

"We will go ahead with our curb market this year," said Mrs. Norman Sharp, chairman of the market committee of the Atlanta Women's club, "and bend our efforts toward the culmination of our plan during 1922. We believe Atlanta needs a curb market. We consider it our duty to see that Atlanta gets it. We will."

PERDUE SURRENDERS TO FEDERAL OFFICERS
Clarence E. Perdue, formerly a sergeant in the quartermaster corps and stationed at Camp Gordon, against whom a warrant was issued for his arrest in the recent trial and acquittal of Edward Cowley, surrendered to the United States marshal in the federal building on Thursday. Cowley was acquitted of charges of buying government property in the knowledge that it was stolen.

After Perdue had served a year in Leavenworth prison for stealing the harness, he was brought to Atlanta to testify against Cowley. He was before a commissioner that Cowley had bought the stolen harness from him, and when on oath during the trial, swore that Cowley had not bought it. He was sent to jail until bond could be assessed.

NEGRO PASTOR WAIVES FRATRICIDE HEARING
Lyerly, Ga., April 21.—(Special).—Clarence Patterson, negro minister who is alleged to have shot and killed his brother after the two had had a quarrel last Saturday afternoon at their home near here, waived preliminary trial Tuesday and was bound over to the next term of the grand jury. Patterson has kept up a continuous preaching, praying and crying since the tragedy and appears to be greatly disturbed over the affair.

CONVICTED FRATRICIDE GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE
Crawfordville, Ga., April 21.—(Special).—Garnett Richards was Wednesday found guilty of murder in connection with the shooting of his brother, Julian Richards. The jury recommended mercy. Richards was sentenced to life imprisonment. The shooting occurred following a quarrel which arose while the two brothers and a niece were taking an inventory of the estate of a sister, after her death a year ago.

Playroom to Care
For Young Children
During Opera Week

Mothers attending the opera next week may leave their children in the care of a graduate nurse and a kindergarten teacher at the playroom operated by the Atlanta Women's club on the third floor of the Peachtree Arcade building. Women living in this city and those coming in from out-of-town for the opera are invited to use the playroom for the care of their children. The room is open from 8 o'clock every morning until 6 o'clock at night.

Besides the expert attention which the children receive at the playroom, they are given the use of slides, chutes, roller coasters and toys. A quantity of new sea sand has recently been given to the playroom by Manager Schmidt, of the Atlanta Hotel, which has been used for a sand pile.

During opera week last year the playroom cared for a large number of children, and the Atlanta Women's club hopes to extend the facility to many more mothers this year. The playroom has been open for eighteen months, supported by the club and by leading merchants of the city.

A competent colored nurse, under the supervision of the graduate nurse, has charge of the little children, while the older ones play under the direction of a kindergarten teacher. A hot meal is served at noon, for which a charge of 20 cents is made. The rate for half a day's care is 25 cents, this being increased to 35 cents for children under 2 years of age, on account of the added care required for them.

Announcement was made that the women who voted would have their ballots marked, so that in the event of developments requiring it their votes might be assembled.

There are more than 4,400 women registered in Chatham county, most of them in Savannah.

HARRISON FLAYS HARVEY AS ENVOY

Washington, April 21.—The appointment of Colonel George Harvey to be ambassador to the Court of St. James, having drawn a bitter attack from Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, a Democrat, is now expected to pass without further incident.

Opposition to Harvey's confirmation had been expected. It did not materialize, however, and Harrison's condemnation, made from the floor of the senate Thursday, accomplished no other purpose than putting on record the feeling among many of the democrats.

Harrison characterized the appointment of Harvey as imprudent and fraught with danger to relations between America and Britain. He said Harvey was "a political accident," made caustic personal comment about him.

This drew from Senator Lodge, republican leader, a sharp retort. Lodge defended Harvey, and accused Harrison of less majesty in criticizing a man who had become the representative of the United States through his appointment. Lodge expressed hope that Harrison's remarks would not be accepted in other countries as indicative of the nation's attitude toward Harvey, whom he said is a man of ability and integrity, admirably suited to the duties of this country.

Harrison denounced Harvey for having opposed the league of nations, after first advocating it, and for having deserted Woodrow Wilson, after having been one of his strongest supporters.

"The whole life of this man has been one of inconsistency and vacillation," said Harrison. "He never remained true to any cause, to any friend, or steadfast to any conviction. He is wedded to no principle, to no cause, to no science. He is a writer of the most dangerous species and a past master in fomenting trouble and aggravating delicate situations."

"He is a vindictive, self-annointed, intolerant political accident. He has been constant in only one thing, and that to attain high place in the councils of political leaders—and to realize his life's ambition, political preferment."

"There never was such an unsuited individual in all the history of mankind, by training, temperament and environment, to take up the important duties as our representative to Great Britain."

Senator Reed, also a democrat, defended Harvey.

"Colonel Harvey is a virile, fighting republican," Senator Reed said. "The whole objection to him is that he was against a league of nations. Why shouldn't he be against it? Or anybody who isn't a political idiot? He never wanted to go about hugging a corpse."

AID FOR COLUMBUS STRIKERS ASKED

They be paid a living wage," Mr. Callahan came to Georgia from Philadelphia, to interest in the aid of organized labor and humanity.

"Mr. Bradley," he said, "as president of the mills in Columbus, admitted, in an interview with a committee of 21 of the strikers, that the wages were not sufficient, and this acknowledgment from the heart of the company is enough to convince us that we are right in our stand."

Continuing, Mr. Callahan said: "In periods of reconstruction, it is only logical that there should be more production, and the textile strike should be made a state-wide issue, inasmuch as the textile industry is primarily one of the prerequisites of American production, ranking in first place with the coal industry. I have examined pay checks of the textile strikers, and some would indicate the absolute impossibility of the recipient living on the amount paid him. One, in particular, was for $1.50 for three days' work, others ranging from $2 to $3.50 for the same amount of work."

Many Strikers Women.
"Most of the strikers are women, some 60 and 70 years of age, who have worked in the textile mills practically all their lives, and are consequently the greatest exponents of textile production. Although they are starving, they refuse to go to work and concede to the demands of the owners, who have admitted that they are not paying a living wage. Investigation of the pay rolls of the company show that not a man, woman or child in the plant is receiving as much as $21 a week for working ten or eleven hours a day."

"The textile workers of Georgia are just beginning to know what organized labor means. Most of the Columbus strikers are uneducated, and the walkout took place without the authorization of organized labor. We are anxious to the strikers to show the stand taken by the factory officials, the president of which frankly admits he is not paying his employees a living wage, yet who steadfastly refuses to give them 50 per cent increase, only a half of the total reduction made by the company in less than two weeks' time. We are right in our cause and will win. Despite the miserable lot of the strikers, we will wait for the final triumph of right and justice."

JAP LIQUOR SHIP IS RELEASED ON BOND; CREW DRAWS FINE

Jacksonville, Fla., April 21.—The Japanese steamer Erle Maru, seized here recently by federal authorities, after being held for several days, was released on bond following the payment of a $10,000 fine by the crew. The ship was released under bond of $10,000 and in order that Captain Hanboshi might sail with a full crew, six of the seven sailors held in the county jail were taken into federal court where they were fined $20 each after they had pleaded guilty to violating the federal prohibition laws. The case of one of the men was nolle prossed.

Alabama Guardsmen Face Marion Trial in Lynching Case

Montgomery, Ala., April 21.—The trial of nine Alabama national guardsmen, charged with the murder of William Baird, was held in Marion county, according to decision of the Alabama supreme court announced today. The lynching of Baird occurred near Jasper, in Walker county, and efforts were made by the state to have the trial held in the county where the crime was committed.

Following the trial of Sergeant Robert Lancaster, in Hamilton two months ago, which was a mistrial, the state now pressed charges against all the soldiers and later secured a new trial in Walker county. The cases were re-assigned today to Marion county on a writ of prohibition filed by the state to prevent the judge of the Walker county circuit from trying the cases in Walker county.

The charges were filed by Representative Welby, democrat, Ohio, and were passed on to the present congress by the judiciary subcommittee, to which they were referred.

Scientists Discover That Vitamins in Yeast Build Up Run-down People—Can Now Be Taken in Tablet Form.

Scores of people who eat plenty of food, and seem to have good appetites, remain thin, anemic and run-down, and only recently the cause has been discovered. It is lack of vitamins. Vitamins are tiny energy-giving substances now known to exert a mysterious power on the bodily cells, and thus produce energy, strength and glowing health in human beings. Yet they are almost wholly lacking in the average modern diet because our methods of food preparation seem to kill the effect of vitamins in food. And the results have been learned that ordinary yeast is wonderfully rich in vitamins. A little yeast added to the meals has so helped run-down people that they have put on flesh in a few days. It renews your energy, makes old people and makes children grow more sturdy.

Numerous experiments in the greatest medical institutions have proved these facts. The common yeast cake, containing only 20 per cent yeast and 80 per cent water, is ineffective. After thorough investigation authorities agree that the ideal yeast is brewer's yeast, and that this yeast has now been prepared in highly concentrated tablets, containing great vitamin-strength and combined with tonics, such as iron, which makes yeast more effective. These tablets are called IRONIZED YEAST. They are sold by all druggists and are the approved vitamin tonic treatment. IRONIZED YEAST tablets are convenient to carry and pleasant to take. They cost only a little more to the dose, than the ordinary yeast (10 cents a day) and is far more beneficial. Get a package today. Before you have finished the first box you will know they are helping you and building you up. IRONIZED YEAST also quickly removes boils, pimples, facial blemishes, etc. Special directions for children in each package.

FEDERAL ESTATE TAX LAW IS UNDER FIRE

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMAN
Constitution Bureau, Raleigh Hotel.

Washington, April 21.—(By Constitution Bureau Wire)—Large estates under administration in the south, and there are several in Georgia are deeply interested in a suit attacking the constitutionality of the federal estate tax, which is to be argued in the United States supreme court Monday. The total collected last year under this tax was $103,685,563.

The law providing for such taxes was passed in 1916 and provided originally for a sliding scale of taxes running from 1 per cent on the first $50,000, 2 per cent on the next $50,000, and so on up to 10 per cent on $1,000,000. This case is said to involve the largest amount of money of any case ever brought before the United States supreme court.

Law Amended.
The law was amended in March, 1917, and the tax raised, and again in October, 1917, with a further raise. The last amendment was in February, 1918, and the rates of taxes was from 1 per cent on $50,000 to 25 per cent on $1,000,000.

The suit was brought by the New York Trust company and is now on appeal from a decision of a district court of the United States for the southern district of New York. The case itself involved only $2,311. The case was collected by the United States collector of internal revenue from the estate of J. H. Henson. Two questions are raised—one as to the constitutionality of the act of September 8, 1916, and the other as to the method of interpretation of the act by which the value of the net estate is computed before the payment of state taxes.

Text of Law.
Clifford D. Hilton, attorney-general of Minnesota; J. Weston Allen, attorney-general for Massachusetts; and John B. Connelley, counsel for the state comptroller of New York, have filed briefs attacking the constitutionality of the law. George W. Southern, of Washington, and H. T. Newcomb, of New York, are counsel for the estate.

The law says "that a tax is hereby imposed upon the transfer of the net estate of every decedent dying after the passage of this act." It is claimed by the plaintiffs that this is a taking of property without as a price, or as a tax, and is unjustifiable.

Argument Against Act.
The argument against the constitutionality is (1) that the tax is a direct tax and not apportioned in the constitutional manner and (2) that it interferes directly with the control of the descent and distribution of property followed by death, and that as the demand for payment is tax in question interferes with the right of the state by taking from the estate a part of the property which the state has said may be passed under its laws.

Begin Consolidation Of All Organizations Working for Soldiers

Washington, April 21.—Transfer from the public health service and the consolidation with the bureau of war risk insurance of all work, offices and personnel of the public health service connected with the medical treatment of disabled war veterans was ordered today by Secretary Mellon. An exception is made, however, in the operation of hospitals and dispensaries, which will remain under the public health service.

The consolidation ordered was recommended by the president's special committee, of which Charles G. Dawes, Chicago, was chairman, and Mr. Mellon said it was a step toward the consolidation of the government agencies which deal with former service men and women.

COTTON EXPORTS IN MARCH SHOW DECIDED DECLINE

Washington, April 21.—Exports of cotton declined sharply in March, as compared with the same month a year ago, according to foreign trade figures issued today by the department of commerce. Exports amounted to 375,180 bales or 152,005,973 pounds, valued at $27,133,190, compared with 734,460 bales or 406,717,360 pounds, worth $71,899,203 in March, 1920, while for the nine months ended with March cotton exports totaled 4,116,190 bales or 2,145,759,616 pounds, worth $250,775,825, as against 5,762,850 bales or 2,956,594,811 pounds, valued at $1,136,531,509 for the corresponding months of 1920. Exports of cotton seed oil for March totaled 36,388,821 pounds, worth $3,319,095, as against 22,021,740 pounds, worth $5,213,937 in March of last year, while for the nine months ended with March cotton seed oil exports aggregated 229,160,781 pounds, worth $27,264,712, as against 116,397,442 pounds, valued at $36,345,687 for the corresponding months of last year.

WILL NOT CALL MEET ON INSURANCE TANGLE

Jackson, Miss., April 21.—Governor Lee M. Russell late today announced that he would take no action toward calling a special session of the legislature to pass laws to straighten out the tangle between the fire insurance companies and the state revenue agent until the insurance agents furnished him with certain information regarding the situation for which he had asked.

WIFE OF SUICIDE IN PACKER FAMILY NEAR COLLAPSE

Los Angeles, Calif., April 21.—On the verge of collapse as a result of shock of her husband's suicide, Mrs. Edna Cudahy was under the care of a corps of physicians at her home in Hollywood Thursday night. Arrangements for the funeral of her husband, John R. (Jack) Cudahy, were delayed pending her recovery.

Miss Clara Cudahy is now in Santa Barbara, Calif., but is expected to leave there for this city at once.

The body will probably be shipped to Chicago or Kansas City for burial possibly in the family plot where lies the body of his father, Michael Cudahy, multi-millionaire Chicago packer.

Ease That Aching Back!

Is a dull, throbbing backache keeping you miserable? Are you tired, lame and tortured with stabbing pains at every sudden move? Is the trouble making your work a burden and rest impossible? Isn't it time, then, you were finding what is wrong? Springtime for many folks is backache time—a common sign that the kidneys need help. Winter's colds and chills, and the damp, changing weather of early spring strain the kidneys, and slow them to work. Poisons accumulate and then comes those mysterious aches and pains, those dizzy spells, headaches and annoying bladder irregularities. Get rid of the trouble before it becomes serious. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills today. They have helped thousands and could help you. Ask your neighbor!

These are Atlanta cases:

Bryan Street
Mrs. J. R. Henderson, 16 Bryan street, says: "I suffered more with backaches late in the afternoon than at any other time. Standing on my feet too long at a time caused the trouble. At times my back ached so I couldn't stoop over. I would wake up during the night with severe pains all over which hurt so I couldn't move. My kidneys acted too freely. My father had used Doan's Kidney Pills successfully, so I began taking them. It didn't take this medicine long to make me well."

Glenwood Avenue
L. Z. Earhart, 247 Glenwood avenue, says: "I suffered with pains across my kidneys, and my left kidney was awfully sore. Every time I stooped over I could hardly straighten up. When even I laid down a sharp pain came in my back, and I could hardly move. My back was so lame and sore. At night I was bothered with the too free action of my kidneys. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills from Jacobs' Pharmacy rid me of kidney trouble."

Cooper Street
Mrs. J. H. Hunter, 365 Cooper street, says: "My back hurt so I didn't know what to do and kidney trouble came on from overwork. I suffered with deep-seated pains across my kidneys, which never seemed to let up during the day. After doing a day's work I was all tired out and had no ambition whatever. Tiny specks quivered before my eyes and made me dizzy and my kidneys were very inactive. I saw the testimony of one who had been benefited by Doan's Kidney Pills in the newspaper. Two boxes of Doan's rid me of kidney trouble."

Emory Glee Club at Agnes Scott.

The Emory University Glee club is to be most enthusiastically welcomed at Agnes Scott college on the evening of Saturday, April 23, at 8:15 o'clock. The program they are to present is especially interesting in many ways. J. Foster Barnes, of wide reputation as bass soloist, is to give several numbers and also Byron Warner, well-known tenor, is to have a prominent part. The whole program is to be a joint performance of the orchestra, the mandolin club and glee club of Emory. One feature of special interest is the farce "I Smell Smoke," which is quite a clever take-off. After the concert the glee club of Agnes Scott will entertain the Emory men. This reception will be held in the lobby of the Rehearsal Scott hall. Tickets for the concert are 75 cents and $1.

A Quiet, Grand Place

For Freckled, Rough or Muddy Complexions

The freckling, discoloring or roughening to which delicate skins are subject after exposure to wind or sun, often appearing in early spring, may readily be removed by ordinary medical wash, speedily lightening the face before retiring and removed in the morning with soap and water, completely peels off the disfigured skin, leaving a new, smooth, clear complexion.

There is no more effective way of banishing freckles or other cutaneous defects. Little skin particles come off each day, so the process doesn't even require a scrubbing. One soon acquires a brand-new, spotless, gleamingly beautiful face. Wrinkles caused by weather, worry or illness are best treated by a simple solution of powdered ascorbic acid, one ounce dissolved in one-half pint with water. Rubbing the face in this solution a truly marvelous transformation is effected.

Y. W. Membership Committee Reports Splendid Work

The following reply was received by Mrs. Archibald Davis, president, when she asked the Y. W. C. A. membership committee if they did not think that in this city that has a population of 200,000 that 5,000 girls and women of the population should be members of the Y. W. C. A.—first, Mrs. A. E. Wheeler reported that 60 members of the First Baptist church have joined the Y. W. C. A. within the past two months, bringing their church's membership to 105. Mrs. W. A. Albright, representing the church, reported that 200 members of her church had joined the Y. W. C. A. Methodist church has joined the association with more constant joining. Other reports were made of work accomplished. The membership meeting was held at Y. W. C. A. headquarters, Peachtree Arcade, at a round table meeting during which time luncheon was served. Mrs. Ernest R. Kontz, membership chairman, presided. Mrs. Kontz's duty is to extend Y. W. C. A. membership throughout Atlanta's churches, by each denomination having a Y. W. C. A. man. Once a month the chairmen meet at the association and make their reports.

Mrs. Archibald Davis, president of the Y. W. C. A., stated in speaking to the body of representative women that their membership work is outstanding in value to the Y. W. C. A. because they are organized through churches. That they have yet to secure 5,000 additional members to bring their total to 5,000 which the committee expressed an unflinching willingness to accomplish. Mrs. Davis stated that membership for a year in the Y. W. C. A. is $1, but as the association can not survive under such a rate, sustaining members for $5 memberships are being sought, also contributors of large sums well within the means of many of Atlanta's men and women. Mrs. Kontz supplemented Mrs. Davis' talk by stating that Y. W. C. A. membership is not what the individual member received for $1, $5, or as a contributor, but it is the privilege of contributing in a material way towards the support of the association, the purpose of which is to associate young women in personal loyalty to Jesus Christ as savior and Lord; to promote growth in Christian character and

Haywood Flees; 'Slavery' Protest Plans Smashed

BY ALEXANDER R. JONES, United News Staff Correspondent.

Chicago, April 21.—That William D. Haywood, acting head of the I. W. W., has fled to Russia and is now under the wing of the soviet, his "fellow workers" here have little doubt.

Haywood, after the recent decision of the supreme court refusing to review his case, was to have started for Leavenworth penitentiary Monday to start a twenty-year sentence for violation of the espionage act. Forty-five I. W. W. leaders are to go to prison on that date for the same offense.

"Since we received the information that came via wireless from Moscow that Haywood landed from the Oscar II, at Riga on April 16, I have made investigation from our sources and I have reason to believe that the report is true," John A. Martin, secretary of the I. W. W. defense committee, told the United News Thursday night.

Martin declined to say who the "other sources" were.

The flight of Haywood, smashed flat a plan for the greatest May day protest against "industrial slavery" the country has ever seen, according to reports here.

Haywood has been busy for months preparing for this May day protest.

Great meetings were planned for New York, Chicago, Cleveland and other cities.

Haywood was to have led the protest personally here in Chicago. Thursday the radical centers were plastered with posters advertising the "May day meetings" Haywood was to speak at the Ashland auditorium, holding thousands, on "The International Labor Day," Robert Minor, radical writer, was to speak on "The World Movement Towards Slavery."

We had hired the hall, sold thousands of tickets to the fellow workers at 25 cents each, got a hall and arranged for everything," said Martin. "This was all fixed before the supreme court decision. You can see that if Haywood has fled to Russia we didn't know anything about it. We wouldn't have spent all that money for May day if we had known it. I don't know what could have come over him to do this."

"It may be that he figured on going and coming back in time for the supreme court decision. If he sailed on the Oscar II, he did leave before the court ruling."

Otto Christiansen, counsel for the I. W. W., and other I. W. W. leaders are bitter in their denunciation of Haywood's reported flight, so are eight of the "fellow workers" who signed his $2,000 bond.

"It was the act of a coward," said Christiansen. "Haywood was the inspiration of the I. W. W. movement, it will harm the cause of amnesty for political prisoners, for which we are working, and which Attorney General Daugherty told us last week he would take under consideration."

Well, I sent for the one telling "How to Make Things Do By Doing Them Over with Vernicol Varnish Stain."

Anything that would make things do, instead of buying things new, just naturally received my speedy investigation. Besides this can of porch furniture green Vernicol, I got one of mahogany to do over that fine old chair your Dad gave us.

HENRY GRADY DAY.

Hearty co-operative approval and support on the part of every civic, commercial, patriotic and religious organization and of every citizen of Atlanta, should be extended to the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce in the furtherance of its laudable plans in behalf of the fitting observance of Henry Grady's birthday anniversary, May 24.

Too much cannot be said in praise of the character and patriotic services of this great southern editor-orator-humanitarian, who is universally credited with having litterally "loved the nation into peace" following the civil war, and whose name is loved and revered

throughout the whole country.

He was not only one of the foremost sons of the south, but his place in history is that of one of the leading men of his day—a fact that eminently justifies the national aspect of the plan for the observance of his birthday.

But for pressure of official business, the president of the United States has let it be known that he would have gladly accepted the invitation to come to Atlanta and participate in the celebration. In lieu of the president,

however, he will be represented about that occasion by a member of his cabinet.

In addition to that, other leaders of thought and national progress will be here from the north, south, east and west, all of whom are coming in response to Atlanta's invitation to be the city's guest and join in paying a tribute of homage and respect to the memory of this great American.

Furthermore, it will be an occasion in the nature of a homecoming for loyal former Georgians who are now residents of other states, but whose love for Georgia has not waned through years of absence and whose hearts are thrilled by the very thought of Grady's name.

Undoubtedly, hundreds, if not thousands, of these Georgians and Atlantans will take advantage of the occasion to make a visit to their kinfolk, their former haunts and environs.

And as for the others who will come from distant points purely through motives inspired by the occasion, it will enable them to see Atlanta and the south—many of them, perhaps, for the first time—and become acquainted with us and our wonderful resources.

This celebration will be unique in the annals of Atlanta; it will be historic, and an occasion of nationwide significance.

The Chamber of Commerce is to be highly commended for the public-spiritedness manifested in the Grady celebration movement—a movement the success of which will be measured only by the nature and extent of response it receives from the business interests and citizens generally of Atlanta.

And it is a movement in which everybody in Atlanta, and, in fact,

in Georgia, should join in a spirit of pride, gratitude and community helpfulness.

"MY ALL FOR TECH."

Until the last dollar of Atlanta's quota of the "Greater Tech" development fund is raised, Atlantans generally can well afford to be guided by the spirit expressed in the motto of the football team of that institution: "My All for Tech!"

"All," as used in this sense, applies, of course, to Energy, Vim, determination, and a heart to win;

and to all of the money that is necessary to make the campaign a one hundred per cent success!

A splendid, and most gratifying,

beginning has been made; but it is only a beginning.

More than $400,000 had been pledged by midday Thursday.

That the full amount will be subscribed, and over-subscribed, is as good as a foregone conclusion, in view of the remarkable response that has featured the initial phases of the campaign.

Never was an Atlanta campaign for any purpose better organized, or in more competent hands, than is this one.

Never was a campaign of any kind prompted or promoted by a more wholesome spirit of enthusiasm; and it is certain that the citizens of Atlanta were never called upon to assist a movement of more significance and importance to their city and to the whole state of Georgia!

This is a campaign that means more to the young manhood of Georgia, and to the development of Georgia's matchless resources, than any similar movement recorded in the history of the state.

It is not a campaign in behalf of any particular class or element of our community, but one in which all elements and all citizens are alike concerned!

Everyone should help it along to early and complete success!

Let your motto be:

"My All for Tech!"

JUDGES AND THE LAW.

After listening to thirty pleas of

"not guilty" from alleged violators of the "dry" statutes, and ordering the defendants held under bond for further investigation, Magistrate

Joseph E. Corrigan, of Jefferson

Market court, New York, according to The New York Tribune's report of the aftermath of the metropolis' first "desert-dry" Sunday, made a speech to the prisoners, in which he bluntly took issue with the law he was administering.

"I could never bring myself to believe," he is reported as having said—

"that people would elect legislators who would pass such foul laws;

but," and he shook his head sadly,

"since these laws are on the statute books I believe in enforcing them."

"It is a terrible situation—terrible!

They will soon be arresting people for breathing cocaine if it contains more than the present legal percentage of alcohol."

A judge has, of course, as much right as any layman to his opinion as to the wisdom or the merits of any law; but the propriety of his flaunting his disrespect for a given law before prisoners charged with its violation is, to say the least of it, open to question.

In this instance the presumption is that the judge believed the prisoners at bar had violated the law,

for otherwise he would have discharged them from custody.

To him, then, as a judge, they were simply law-breakers—nothing more—and, law being "blind," according to tradition, his duty was plainly mapped out for him.

It was to mete out justice, "without fear or favor," in accordance with the law before him, and regardless of whether he personally likes the law or not.

For him to characterize the law

as a "foul law," and to ridicule it, was only to bring it into contempt before its violators and to justify its violation.

A judge is only one man; a congress or a legislature is composed of many men, each presumably as deeply concerned in the welfare of the masses of the people as is the man on the bench.

No judge can expect to make much headway toward promotion of respect for the law, and toward reduction of crime, by apologizing for his judicial actions or by lampooning the acts of the people's chancellors.

Law is law; and whether it is good or otherwise, in the mind of the individual judge, it is the court's duty to administer it in such a manner as will best lead to its rigid enforcement.

The editor of The Marshall

(Kansas) News intimates that while "cowless milk" may be all right, "pumpless milk" would command more respect.

"Relativity," says Dr. Einstein,

"relinquishes the absoluteness of

They're rhyming "Yap" with

"scrap," and that's the way it seems to look.

EMORY READY TO WELCOME TRACK STARS

BY GEORGE MACDONELL.

Everything being in readiness the coming Emory state championship track meet promises to be one of the biggest and best in the south this season. Nothing has been omitted that would help in making the meet a success. The Emory student body going to the extent of building a new cinder track especially for the meet, although the track will serve for other meets as well.

Six colleges will be represented in this meet, Tech, Georgia, Oglethorpe, Mercer, Piedmont and Emory, which is to be the host to the other colleges. Piedmont lately entered the track ring and, according to all reports, will begin its initial track year with a full squad entering all events.

There is no room to doubt that the Tech tracksters are not hot on the trail of the cup this year as they were last, and that it will be a scrap from start to finish if any other college has designs on the trophy. From the Tech-Auburn meet it is easy to see that the Yellow Jacket is strong in the mile and reports from Georgia, Mercer, and Oglethorpe indicate that the teams of those colleges are going through the mill daily.

Little or nothing is known of the strength of the other college teams, as Piedmont has not entered heretofore, but the institution will figure as a "dark horse," which may spring several surprises. According to all accounts a strong delegation will be sent down.

That they will be there "fighting for all they're worth" is the way Coach Smith characterizes his protégés and "Track" Smithers has instilled the proper incident into his charges to make them into a formidable track team. The Emory men gained a great deal of experience in the recent track carnival held on the campus.

An innovation of this meet this year will be a tennis tournament between all of the colleges represented in the meet, and a doubles. The final elimination will take place in a few days, determining the number and order of Blue and White in the racket. The list of aspiring tennis exponents has been out down to ten, who will play off the finals next week. Those ten men are Simpson, Jenkins, Bennett, Kaufman, Quillian, Thomas, Pope, Harvard, Silver and Gorry. A three-man team will be picked from this number and an extra will be selected for substitute.

The officials for the meet are as follows: C. W. Streit, president of Birmingham Athletic Club, referee; H. G. Voorhes, manager of Spaulding's, and Al Doonan, president of the Southern Athletic Union, judges; L. C. Matheny, of the Atlanta Y. M. C. A.; J. Hume McDonald and Ed. Smith, assistant head judges; William Hutsell, clerk of the course.

B. H. S. MEETS SMITHIES IN BIG BATTLE

Tech High and Boys' High, ancient rivals and the leading teams in the pennant race in the Atlanta league, will meet today at Piedmont park at 3:30 o'clock in what promises to be the best game yet played in the Atlanta league. Boys' High is expected to win by a margin of two or three runs, but when these very strong high school teams meet.

For the first time this year Tech High and Boys' High are meeting with the leadership of the league at stake. Tech High has defeated Boys' High in football, twice in basketball and once in swimming, but this is Boys' High's great chance to stage a comeback, and take some of the glory of the Smithies for themselves.

Boys' High leads the Smithies by a half game, and should Tech High defeat the Purple Hurricane this afternoon the teams will tie for the leadership. Tech has won the first half season. Both teams are not only awaiting the umpire's "play ball."

Dusty White is slated to hurl for Boys' High. White has faced the Smithies on several occasions, and in each has given a good account of himself. According to the dope on hand he has defeated the Smithies in his every start with one exception, that when he lost to Al Jordan in a ten-inning battle.

But in addition to the dope, Boys' High seems to be the strongest team. They have been outwitting the Smithies, and the battery of White and Robertson is better in experience and ability than Peel or Miles and Hammett. Tech High, however, is the stronger fielding team, and the breaks of the game may and may not divide the contest.

Commercial High will play Fulton High and Marist will play G. M. A. in the other games of the day. Marist showed surprising strength in its last game and may give the Cadets a great battle.

PRATT, ALABAMA, LEAVES TO JOIN CHICAGO CLUB

Tuscaloosa, Ala., April 21.—Francis Pratt, shortstop on the University of Alabama baseball team, left here tonight to join the Chicago American league club.

Pratt, who probably will play third for the Cubs, is a cousin of Derrell Pratt, and his appearance in the White Sox line-up will bring the number of former University of Alabama diamond stars in the major league up to five.

BEAUTIFUL FILM STAR IS ON WAY TO VISIT ATLANTA

Clara Kimball Young, whose reputation as the best-dressed woman in moving pictures, together with her undeniable ability as an actor, has won a wide circle of admirers among movie fans, will arrive in this city next Thursday morning.

She will arrange an opportunity for her friends and admirers to meet her, the details being under consideration now.

Miss Young left Los Angeles recently to make a tour of many cities of the country, to each of which she has been invited by civic organizations. Her trip is the result of a wide appeal from all corners of the land, whereby moving picture fans, admiring her on the screen, expressed a desire to see her in person. She is now in Texas, where her visits have caused intense interest.

In Houston, 30 firemen were called out to help the post reserves maintain order in front of her hotel. Miss Young was made an honorary member of the Texas National Guard. San Antonio unfurled a huge flag in her honor, and crowds pressed to shake her hand.

Little or nothing is known of the strength of the other college teams, as Piedmont has not entered heretofore, but the institution will figure as a "dark horse," which may spring several surprises. According to all accounts a strong delegation will be sent down.

That they will be there "fighting for all they're worth" is the way Coach Smith characterizes his protégés and "Track" Smithers has instilled the proper incident into his charges to make them into a formidable track team. The Emory men gained a great deal of experience in the recent track carnival held on the campus.

An innovation of this meet this year will be a tennis tournament between all of the colleges represented in the meet, and a doubles. The final elimination will take place in a few days, determining the number and order of Blue and White in the racket. The list of aspiring tennis exponents has been out down to ten, who will play off the finals next week. Those ten men are Simpson, Jenkins, Bennett, Kaufman, Quillian, Thomas, Pope, Harvard, Silver and Gorry. A three-man team will be picked from this number and an extra will be selected for substitute.

The officials for the meet are as follows: C. W. Streit, president of Birmingham Athletic Club, referee; H. G. Voorhes, manager of Spaulding's, and Al Doonan, president of the Southern Athletic Union, judges; L. C. Matheny, of the Atlanta Y. M. C. A.; J. Hume McDonald and Ed. Smith, assistant head judges; William Hutsell, clerk of the course.

Tech Jackets Off on Ten-Day Road Jaunt

The Georgia Tech baseball squad has the road laid out for a ten-day jaunt, and there's no doubt about it. The team is scheduled to leave for a tour of the South, and the schedule of games includes eight battles in the course of this time.

Coach Clay is in charge of the party, and Price Gilbert goes along to attend to the details of the trip in a managerial capacity. Burton, faithful old trainer of Tech athletes, goes along, too, and then there are the fourteen players, including four pitchers, two catchers, five infielders and three outfielders.

The schedule. The first stop on the trip is at Raleigh, N. C., and the jackets get in there this morning a few minutes before noon. The first game is this afternoon, and there's another tomorrow, too, with the Agricultural and Mechanical school there. They leave Raleigh at midnight Saturday and go straight into Washington, getting there Sunday morning. In Washington they have the brace of games the first two days of next week with the Georgetown Hilltoppers, the which games will more than likely be the stiffest the Tech line will meet up with on the whole trip.

The games on Wednesday and Thursday with the Naval academy and Maryland university, respectively, are pretty sure to be good, fast ones, too. Price finds the Tech team in Lexington, Va., for the games with Washington and Lee university, that may be the next one. Auburn set the Generals down to 6, Wednesday night, according to the dope, this should mean Tech is due for a couple of victories here, too. Immediately after the Washington and Lee games the jackets grab a Southern and get home in time for Sunday dinner.

Pretty Girls to Offer Novel Carnival

Miss Catherine Smith as a hula dancer and Miss Rebecca Ashcraft as a spieler for the wild man.

A carnival, abounding in new features, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at Washington seminary, under the auspices of the Washington Seminary Alumni association. Thorough preparations have been made to make the event as interesting as possible. The public is invited, and the admission fee will be one dime, the proceeds being used for the Bessie Chandler Matthews memorial fund. It is expected that a large crowd will be present, the early sale of tickets indicating unusual interest in the event. The managers of the carnival, in announcing the arrangements, guaranteed that all who attended would wear "the smile that won't come off." Stunts, music, dancing and refreshments will constitute the program.

negotiations, once resumed, may lead to a prompt settlement which will at the same time satisfy the just claims of the allies and permit Germany hopefully to renew its productive activities.

The German appeal received today, and Mr. Hughes' reply, were made public by the state department without comment, and high administrative officers declined to discuss either of them.

The note embodying the request was forwarded Wednesday by the German government to the state department. The note was signed by Chancellor Fehrenbach and Dr. Walter Simons, the foreign minister.

The appeal pledges Germany to accept the mediation without reservations and to fulfill absolutely any award President Harding may make after examination and investigation into the subject.

The text of the note to President Harding follows: "In the name of the German government and the German people, we, the undersigned, in full and complete submission to the just and reasonable demands of the allied powers, submit this appeal to the president of the United States to mediate in the reparations question and to fix the sum to be paid by Germany to the allied powers."

"They earnestly urge him to secure the consent of the allied powers to such mediation. They solemnly declare that the German government is ready and willing to agree, without reservations or qualifications, to pay to the allied powers as reparations such sum as the president, after examination and investigation, may find just and right."

"They formally pledge themselves to fulfill in spirit and in letter the provisions of any award that may be made by him. With abiding faith in the righteousness of their request, and with undeniable sincerity of purpose, the German people, through their constituted government, submit their appeal to the president of the United States, with the confident hope that it will be granted, to the end that the final award may be made in accordance with right and justice, to meet the heartfelt wishes of all civilized nations in the event of the consequences of the imminent peace measures, and to promote the peace of the world."

AUBURN DEFEATS WASHINGTON & LEE BY SCORE OF 6 TO 3

Danville, Va., April 21.—(Special.)—The Auburn Plainsmen completed a successful road trip Thursday by again defeating Washington and Lee, 6 to 3. The Plainsmen hit well in the pinches, knocking Mabin out of the box in the first inning. Scott hit a homer in the seventh off McCullum, with one man on. Scott and Barnes each secured three hits. Sherling made a feature catch in the seventh, probably saving the game for the Auburnites. He also drove in two runs with a double. Batteries: Mabin, McCullum and Frew; Ollinger and Gibson.
